

Mishicot's new tennis court lights have been installed.

Horseshoe pits at Mishicot's village park.

Photos by James Bydalek

Mishicot completes park improvements

MISHICOT — The village of Mishicot recently completed work on various village park improvements initiated during the summer of 1983.

These improvements include the construction of 10 lighted and fenced horseshoe pits; lighting of existing double tennis courts; relocating all existing electrical lines underground; improving parking lot lighting; lighting of the park's playground area and ice skating rink; and installing wooden benches around tennis

A $9,000 federal LAWCON grant, administered by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, was used to fund these improvements. The village matched these funds with $9,000 of its own.

Contractors and suppliers for these projects included Sampe Electric, Chuck Hoffman Electric, John Tess Builders and Englewood Electric Supply.

The horseshoe pit project was also assisted by a $250 donation from the local Aid Association for Lutherans branch.